

CONDUCT FIRE TEAM OPERATIONS

Course Overview: Participants will be provided with the knowledge and practical skills required to work effectively as a team member to contribute to fire team planning and preparing to work, fighting and containing fires and finalizing operations.

Certification: On successful completion of training, participants will be awarded the following nationally recognised unit of competency by LRM (RTO#32552) whose training is recognised and respected in industry:

➤ RIIERR201D Conduct fire team operations

Pre-requisites: PUAFIR207B Operate breathing apparatus (open circuit)

Duration: 2 Days

Our Trainers are current Industry Professionals who are committed to innovation and excellence in service delivery.

LRM specialise in the provision of REAL and PRACTICAL emergency response, fire, rescue, aviation, safety and first aid training. Delivered from our purpose built facility in Morayfield or on your approved site anywhere in Australia, participants will receive nationally accredited training utilising industry best practice methodologies, state of the art equipment, live fire training props and resources.

We welcome the opportunity to exceed your expectations!

1 300 766 625

INNOVATION AND EXCELLENCE IN TRAINING

